RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. Mr. Editor,

KNOWING that there is a number of the most worthless of society, who make it a business to spread evil reports respecting the solvency of banks in the different parts of the United States, for the purpose of depreciating and purchasing their paper. I feel it is my duty to give a list of the Banks of the District of Columbia, that it may be made known to all persons in every part of the Union, that the said Banks do pay specie for their notes, on demand, and that they are justly entitled to the highest credit and standing, and that they are opposed to a suspension of specie payments, and will be the last in the country that will agree to such a measure. This communication is made to prevent imposition, and to inform all persons who may have the paper of those banks, in any part of the Union, that they may hold it as so much specie. Persons emigrating and travelling north, south or west, would do well by taking the notes of those banks, as they will always find them equal to specie, and often to command a premium of 5 to 10 per cent. for remittances to Baltimore, Philadelphia & New-York. To my numerous acquaintances (trading men,) and the community, I pledge myself for the foregoing.

The following are the banks of this district that pay specie for their notes on demand, viz:
The Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank of Georgetown,
Central Bank of Georgetown & Washington,
Union Bank of Georgetown,
Bank of Columbia,
Bank of the Metropolis,
Patriotic Bank of Washington,
Bank of Washington,
Bank of Alexandria,
Union Bank of Alexandria,
Farmers' Bank of Alexandria,
Bank of Potomac,
Branch Bank of the United States at Washington.

I hold myself responsible for the foregoing declaration to the public. Done at my Exchange Banking House, Bridge-street, Georgetown, this 26th day of May 1819.

SATURDAY, JUNE 26, 1819.

From the Cape Fear Recorder June 12.

The schooner Delight, owned by Mr. D. Mitchell, of this place, James R. Lark, master, bound to the island of St. Domingo, went over the bar on the 1st inst. and returned on the 9th. in consequence of one of the crew who had shipped by the name of Elijah Libby, by birth an Englishman, having struck the captain, with the sharp part of an axe, two blows on the head, which it is supposed will cause his death. The circumstances, as far as were related by the witnesses that have been examined, are these—that from the time the Delight went over the bar, to the morning of the commission of the unfortunate act, which was on Sunday, the 6th, at 8 o'clock. A. M. the prisoner appeared considerably "troubled in his mind"—that he conceived, or pretended to conceive, that there were persons conversing with him, who were overboard; that he threw a part of his clothes into the sea: and said that the persons conversing with him, had informed him that the vessel would be lost—and that he, the prisoner, had no other way of saving his life, than by taking a peice of wood and jumping into the sea with it, which peice of wood would turn into a boat, and take him safe to shore—He accordingly got a peice of wood & jumped overboard, upon which he got, and soon cried out for help, and requested that the vessel should not leave him, as he could not swim. All these acts were supposed to proceed from the effects of liquor, which he had drank previous to his leaving port. He states, that the person who instructed him as to the destruction of the vessel, also informed him, after he got aboard, he had no other method of saving his life, but by taking that of the captain's—which we are afraid he has succeeded too well in doing.

One of the witnesses was at the helm—the captain and prisoner were on the deck—the mate below. The man at the helm heard the captain cry out; on turning round, he observed the captain in the act of falling, and the prisoner in the act of repeating the blow, and which he succeeded in giving before the witness could prevent it, who immediately after, with the assistance of the cook, took the axe from the prisoner and secured him. Upon the mates coming on deck, he found that the edge of the axe had been struck with great force into the captain's head, in two places; that he lay on the deck bleeding most profusely; and from his dangerous situation, he thought it best to return immediately to this port, where he arrived as above stated.

From circumstances that appeared on the examination, it is to be feared that the symptoms of insanity, which marked the prisoner's conduct previous to the unfortunate transaction, was a mere pretence, and that under them he harbored a most diabolical intention. He has been handed over to the custody of the law; it therefore ill becomes us to express any opinion as to his guilt, which may have a tendency to create an improper influence.

In his possession were found a number of discharges from the British navy, as Daniel James and a Register of an American vessel. The last discharge was from his B. M ship Elur, Robert Spencer, captain, dated the 20th of March, 1817. The register is for the schooner Catharine, Obed Hussey, of Hallowell, (Mass.) owner, James Hussey, master, register, 250, temporary, issued at the custom-house of Boston and Charlestown, and dated the 2d of November, 1816. The register is now in the hands of the collector of this port, who has, with his accustomed promptness, taken the necessary steps to ascertain the facts connected with it.

We conclude by remarking that after the prisoner had committed the act, he appeared perfectly rational; and on his examination, recollected every thing that had transpired while he was on board the schooner, and that from threats that he had made that he had designs against the lives of all the crew, with the exception of the mate.

Capt. Lark is at Fort Johnson, and from the nature of his wound it is almost impossible that he can recover.

We understand the prisoner is branded in the hand; he may, therefore, be an old offender.

Calcutta, Feb. 27.

At Penang two expeditions are preparing—one of which is destined to form a British settlement at Archen—the destination of the other not known. Sir Stanford Raffers was to accompany the former expedition.

The Dutch are taking possession of all the little they formerly had to the eastward, and they are in expectation of 15,000 more troops from Europe.

Private accounts from Calcutta of the 4th inst. mention that a very great change had rather unexpectedly taken place in the money market. Company's six percent paper, which ten days before bore a discount of 7½ per cent, had fallen to 2½ per cent. and the Bazzar rate of interests had kept pace with this decline, being then eight per cent per annum on deposit of government paper, or equal to a decrease of 1o per cent in as many days. It was difficult to account satisfactorily for so rapid a change, though of the many reasons which may have operated to effect it, the principal are said to be the large imporations of bullion from China and Europe, the opening of the bank for discounting, and the stagnation in the cotton market, in the upper provinces.

It is further stated that the crop of cotton this season is expected to prove very abundant.

LINEN AND THREAD FROM NETTLES.

The Irish have recently made some experiments upon the flos of nettles, for the manufacture of thread and linen; and the result is said to be, that both these articles are obtained equal, if not superior, to the thread and linen from flax.

SOUTH AMERICA.

The Sketches of South American Scenery, habits and manners, are Elysian pictures which seduce youthful imaginations from their home, country, kindred, and friends, to dash into perilous enterprises, and sacrifice fame, fortune, and happiness in a land of fairy fiction.

In describing the flowry plains and perrennial groves of the South, some writers forgot to add, that they are are infested with innumerable musquetoes, serpents, alligators, and tigers; that some of the trees which beautify them cast a shade which is deadly, and bear fruit, which to eat is death. When they describe their dwellings with furniture of gold and silver, they neglect to mention that they are abominably filthy, over run with vermin, and that but for the labor of combating against these persevering enemies, they would be always idle. We hear that when a certain Viceroy entered Lima, the inhabitants literally paved the streets with silver and gold but the writer does not add, that those very streets are almost nightly stained with human blood by midnight assassination. We are told of the very great sublimity of the mountains, covered with eternal snow; of exhaustless mines of gold and silver, diamonds, emeralds, and other precious gems; but we are not reminded at the same time that this rich and enchanting land is subject to earthquakes & volcanic eruptions, which often annihilate the beauties of nature and art, and engulph and overthrow cities, and bury thousands of human beings beneath their ruins, in an unexpected moment. S. America is a country which combines the extremes of whatever is odious and enchanting, rich and poor, pleasing and dreadful. A ragged Spaniard, collecting gold dust from the earth, to purchase his daily bread, is a striking combination of wealth and poverty, and illustrates the general character of the country.

LETTERS FROM LOUISIANA.

From a gentleman now in that country, to his friend in the village of Springfield, Massachusetts.

LETTER I.

My dear sir—I last wrote you from New-York. The next day I embarked on board the sloop D———d, for New-Orleans. All hands on board, and every thing being ready, we left the harbor of that immensely rich and beautiful city about 9 o'clock in the morning, and proceeded down to sea. I need not tell you, my dear H——, that I sighed farewell with many feelings of regret, to the white cliffs and mountains of my native land, as they receded from my view: but having a fine breeze, in two or three hours we run down to the Hook—passed the Highland of Neversink, and were very soon out of sight land, and "far off to sea."—I had never been upon the dark blue waves of ocean before—a thousand sensations crowded my brain. I went into the cabin, took up the 4th Canto of Childe Harold, the only book I had with me, read a few pages of my favorite Byron, crawled into my birth and went to sleep, and determined to sleep out as much of the passage as I could. When I awoke it was blowing a hurricane, which however lasted but a short time. But when about 4 days from New-York, just as we were entering the Gulph Stream, we experienced one of the most tremendous storms I ever witnessed. It commenced about 7 o'clock in the evening, and continued during the whole night. The wind blew so hard that it was with the utmost difficulty the poor sailors were able to hold on upon deck, so as to manage the vessel—accompanied during most of the time with incessant rain, thunder and lightning, and the most intolerable darkness you can possibly imagine—And we in a little sloop knocking about upon the waves, which were roaring and breaking about us (if you will allow me the comparison) like mountains in chaos. We rode out the storm, however, as a sailor would say, with less injury than we expected—indeed our expectations were rather "despairingly fixed" within the bosom of the ocean than otherwise. On our passage from thence we had several other storms and much rough weather; but as the incidental occurrences at sea can afford you but little amusement, I shall pass over them.

At length, after a passage of 23 days from New-York, we arrived at the mouth of the Mississippi River. This river presents a most singular appearance, as it tumbles whirling and foaming unto the great deep, the water of which, as every body knows who have seen it, is remarkably muddy and dirty—hence the appearance which is produced by uniting rapidly, as it does, with the clear transparent water of the sea. Besides, the land, or marsh, on both sides of the entrance, is so extremely low, that you can hardly see it two miles off—of course the first you see of this great river is the difference in the colour of the water, rolling over that of the ocean, and appearing very much like water agitated and broken by running over rocks. In passing up this river, though it was in the month of January, we had very warm, pleasant weather—ten thousand birds singing, as in spring, with you. The land along its banks, until you get halfway up to New-Orleans, will not admit of cultivation, being entirely a low wet marsh, filled with various kinds of wild fowl, snakes and alligators. But above that the land is a little cultivated, and you now and then see a few little huts scattered along shore, constructed something like an Indian's wigwam, inhabited by Creoles, and apparently the residence of much poverty and misery.

The captain of the vessel and myself went ashore to one of these huts to buy some milk. On leaving our boat and approaching the house, we found ourselves besieged on all sides by five or six large dogs, who commenced growling and barking at us, and would hardly suffer us to proceed. On entering the house, which was all in one room, and that without any floor to it, we beheld a very good looking woman apparently about 35 years of age, but half decently dressed, seated in an old broken chair which was the only one I could see in the house, with a young child in her arms surrounded by six or eight more of different sizes, with dirty faces and half naked carcases. All stared at us with as much astonishment as if we had descended to them from the moon. Recollecting a little French, I asked the woman in her own language, if she could sell us a little milk, No, she said, they had none. Have you any eggs, madame? No. Any potatoes? No. Any butter? No. Any bread? No. What in the world have you got to eat then? said I,—Nothing sir. My husband has gone up the river to get something for us to eat, and we expect him back to-morrow. So we left her and returned to our vessel. Contrasting our wants as we went along, with that of the poor woman and her children we had left, we felt perfectly satisfied to go without milk. Pardon this little digression, my dear H———. I could not omit relating to you this little incident, because having struck me so forcibly at the time, it is still fresh in my memory.

'Tis a singular fact that vessels in sailing up and down the Mississippi River never come to anchor at all. Nature has provided a different way for their security.—When night comes on, they run along side of the bank, which is almost every where perpendicular, and with sufficient depth of water, where they make fast to a tree on shore till morning. Thus in consequence of "tying up" vessels, as a man does his horse, you see a great many trees that are conveniently situated on the bank of the river, with their bark chaffed and rubbed off, and entirely killed by it.

As you approach New-Orleans, the country becomes very much improved, and you pass some very fine plantations, particularly two or three in the neighborhood of Jackson's battle ground, so memorably distinguished during the late war with G. Britain; and which is six miles below the city.

You see I have no more room without taking another sheet of paper.—Adieu my dear H——. In my next I shall give you a description of New-Orleans.

Court of Assizes at Bruxelles.

CONSPIRACY AGAINST THE EMPEROR ALEXANDER.

Sittings of the 20th April, 1819.

The attorney Leroy, for Mr. Piger, observed, that from the instruction of the three judges, and the examination of sixty witnesses, the truth had just begun to manifest itself. He mentioned that had it not been for the machinations of Laborde and Buchoz, there would not be a single appearance of a plot. His client was not a mad politician as it had been insinuated, but worried by agents who will be produced. His client's wishes were to get rid of them. Buchoz had the greatest interest that nothing should be disclosed to the French police but thro' himself. The disclosure instead of being made to the French has been made to the police of Brussels—the supposition goes so far as to ascertain that not only one regiment, but even 16,000 men were ready to advance. He maintains that Buchoz calling himself an agent for the police, has instigated the other conspirators, and Pouillet Lacroix was his dupe.

Piger was only the clown of the play; he was drunk when taken out of town to go to Bossut—his zeal was applauded and his devotion to the public cause, advising him in case he should be arrested, to blow out the brains of the person who should arrest him, and to shoot himself afterwards. Piger it was agreed, had been too free about a war in Europe, but being intoxicated the greater part of his residence at Mons, he was almost in a state of insanity; besides all the conduct of Piger convinces us that his principal object was money. He was induced by Pouillet Lacroix to go to Mons, and he was provided with 45 francs by Bocher for his travelling expences, and his departure was only intended to clear himself of the importunities to which he was exposed during the whole of one month. During his residence at Mons he communicated the conspirators that with 2 or 300 francs, he could have settled the whole, otherwise that there was no possibility of any success, besides Piger's intention was to get something by his voyage to Mons, by making himself certain if he could make a false trade, which gives us the true cause of his intimacy with Diericks and Baudy—and from the plan of the road to be taken and furnished by Diericks, there is no doubt but their intention was rather to defraud the government than to defraud or to arrest the Emperor himself.

Whatever is the reality of the plot and the degree of guilt, the attorney of Piger denies his client having taken any part in it, and that he never was in great intimacy with the concerned. He adds, besides, that Buchoz, when informed of the plot, exclaimed, "it is my own affair, better planned than that of the duke of Wellington although I have received 5000 francs;" that he, Buchoz, was acting for the Police of France, and according to his instructions; and that his conduct had been already sanctioned by his receiving money with Pouillos Lacroix, and by his accelerating the plan towards its execution. It does not seem probable then, that the police of France had it in view to recall Bonaparte, and to arrest the Emperor Alexander; and from the time the two suspected prisoners had any part in the conspiracy (supposing the reality of one) there was nothing of a serious nature, but only a plan formed by the ultras to frighten the Emperor Alexander. Upon that occasion, it was attempted to shew a kind of union between the actual conspiracy and the fomentations in the Morbihan and Normandy, at the time when the Emperor, so much beloved by all the powers of Europe, was enjoying the fruits of his virtues, and when after three years of occupation he was willing to recall the army of observation against the will of some ill-disposed people. To close his pleadings, Mr. Leroy insisted that the conspiracy had never been serious, existed only in the fancy of its authors—that Piger never was concerned in it, neither sanctioned it, and that upon that indictment he could not be prosecuted.

The lawyer Garcia de Lavoga, spoke for Berth, to show the innocence of his client: through him the conspiracy was discovered to the Count of Rougrave, and by him communicated to H. M. the King, entirely unconnected with Buchoz and Pouillot Lacroix, who had only plotted the plan, to have the merit of discovering it; Berth has made his communication freely and without interest.

The lawyer Plaisant in behalf of Diericks, maintained that there was no plot, that there is nothing but the machinations of Buchoz and his agents—that supposing even a conspiracy, nothing was acted against the sovereign and could not come within the law of the 20th of April; and the pleadings were concluded by an appeal to the mercy of the court.

The lawyer Redemans, in favor of Pouillot Lacroix, argued principally that his client was only acting the part of a subservient, and that if there is any one guilty, it must be Buchez.

The lawyer Verhaigon, jun. in a pleading of about 3 hours, opened all his powers of defence in favor of Buchez. In the beginning, the lawyer left entirely to his client to clear himself of the shameful accusations brought against him, but not connected with the present trial, and brought to his charge by the public agent and the defenders of the other parties; that Buchez was the agent of the French police, that he had received and yet receives a compensation from its minister, is of no moment; I shall not speak of those facts, I will only avail myself of their little influence upon the main question, and of the small weight they ought to have—the rights of the individuals won't submit to calumny the representative of the king. By his public character, he ought to be above the least suspicion.

In the course of his argument, he touched some very interesting questions, amongst others he maintained that the emperor Alexander, during his stay in Belgium was, in the eye of the law, only a common individual, and that the plan of overturning a foreign kingdom as France, did not come within the laws of the Belgic government, and the two first conditions stipulated by the 1st art. of the law of 1815, did not apply to this case.

He explained likewise sundry questions concerning the complexity and the principles to be followed in the present trial; that Buchez having revealed the conspiracy, was authorised by the police to watch the conspirators, and that he was yet acting under that authority.

He censured most strongly the police of the town, which in the beginning had given great importance to the conspiracy, but now appeared to treat it with levity, and was taking quite contrary steps, by charging Buchez of having speculated upon a denunciation both false and wicked. How does it happen that the same police after treating all the transactions as a chimera, should still expect to see the plot in execution? If any body ought to be blamed, it was certainly the police by which he had been employed. Every police we know, has its spies. It is their interest to employ every means to have those suspected secured.

In fact the charges against Buchez are grounded upon the declaration of Pouillot Lacroix, which ought to be entirely rejected from the many reasons already given.

The lawyer closed his pleading by deprecating the influence of the suspicions existing against his client, and rested his cause entirely upon the impartiality of the court, from which he expected justice.

The court in its sittings of the 1st May after a deliberation of more than three hours issued a decree of one year's confinement in prison, against Piger and Diericks—Berth and Pouillot Lacroix to three years—and Buchez to 6 years, being exposed for two hours at the pillory, and to be branded with a red-hot iron.

PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the Washington Theological REPERTORY.

EDITORS { Rev. Wm Hawley, Washington,
Rev. Wm. H. Wilmer, Alexandria,
Rev. Oliver Norris, Alexandria,
Rev Reuel Keith, Georgetown.

Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

IF any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact, that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New-York, and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprize and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprize of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage of the public.

The publication will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her institutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to loose sight of that great law of charity which teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successively pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge, and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature, will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to those great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.

For Sale or Lease,

THE following tracts of land in Charles county, Maryland: one lying on the Potomac, at the mouth of Pomonkey creek, containing three hundred and forty acres, about 16 miles from Alexandria, the larger portion level land, of a stiff soil, well adapted to the cultivation of corn, wheat and tobacco, and equal in fertility to any in the neighborhood. On this farm is one of the most elegant sites for building of all those fine heights which border the Potomac, commanding the most extensive view of the adjacent country, both in Virginia and Maryland, for more than twenty miles up and down the river: located in a genteel neighborhood, it would make an agreeable residence, and from its proximity to market, with the advantage of the best navigation, an extremely profitable farm.—The tenant's houses would accommodate the negroes for its cultivation.

A Tract, about one mile back from the former, containing 334 acres, a large portion in wood, white and red oak, and some chesnut; the remainder a tenement in tolerable repair, the whole a high stiff soil, similar to the one above mentioned

A Tract, lying at the mouth of Mattawoman Creek, about 25 miles from Alexandria, the whole first rate flat river land, now completely enclosed.—On this tract is a noted fishery, called Rum Point, at which there has been cleared upwards of two thousand dollars per annum, and where independent of the fish sold on the shore, there might be put up from one to two thousand barrels every season; besides the profits of the fishery, the advantage of manuring the farm with the offal of the shore, the whole, with a small portion of industry, might be made to produce ten barrels of corn per acre. On the shore, are a dwelling house, houses for holding salt, and curing any quantity of fish, and for the accommodation of hands.

A Tract, lying about 1½ miles from the last mentioned, containing 236 acres, more than 200 of which are in wood, and would cut from 25 to 30 cords per acre, within one mile of the river, where wood has rarely sold for less than five dollars per cord. It will be divided into 50 or 25 acre lots, to suit purchasers.—If preferred, the wood will be sold standing, for so much per acre.

If not disposed of, previous to the first day of Sept. next, the above mentioned arable lands, will be leased out, upon advantageous terms, for five or seven years, at the option of the lessees.

Application to be made to the subscriber, residing near the head of Mattawoman Creek, Charles county, Maryland.

Also,

The unexpired residue of a term of ten years, from the 14th November, 1815, in the tenement and lot adjoining, situated on Royal and Cameron-streets, subject to an annual rent of 133 33-100 dollars. Public Sale.

UNDER the authority of a deed of trust from Abiel Holbrook, to secure a debt due to Wm. S. Moore, the subscriber will offer at public sale, on the premises, at 5 o'clock, P. M. on FRIDAY the 2d July, for cash, a lot of land, near the town of Alexandria, beginning on the east side of the Washington Turnpike road, in or near the southern boundary of the land formerly Parthenia Dade's, and extending northwardly on said road thirty-three and an half poles, containing nine acres twenty-two poles; and one other lot on the west side of Washington-street extended, and on the north side of the second street to be laid off north from Montgomery-street, according to the plan of the town, containing one acre and one-fourth.

Public Sale.

ON the 9th DAY of JULY next, at 12 o'clock of that day, by virtue of a deed of trust, we will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, on the premises, that very valuable tract of land in Fairfax county, near Holmes's Run, and about four miles from Alexandria, generally known by the name of containing about 115 acres. This land is about one half in wood—the balance cleared, and in cultivation, with convenient buildings on it, and excellent water near them. A considerable proportion of the open land is fertile, and well calculated for timothy meadows.

The sum of $2,254 77 cts will be required to be paid in cash; for the residue a credit of twelve months will be given from the day of sale, the purchaser paying interest thereon, and giving satisfactory security for the punctual payment thereof. A conveyance will be made when the purchase money and interest is all paid up. If the terms of the sale should not be complied with by the purchaser, the premises will be immediately re-sold to the highest bidder, at the risque of the person to whom it shall have been struck off; and the same course will be repeated until an effectual sale shall have taken place.

Mills at Auction.

THE subsscriber, who is the owner of a MANUFACTURING MILL, and a

Durable Geared Saw Mill,

On Broad Run, Prince William County, wishes to sell, and intends offering them for sale by public auction, to the highest bidder, on the first day of July next.—Persons desirous of owning this kind of property, are particularly invited to attend the sale, as the property will be most positively sold on that day, and as an opportunity of purchasing Mills so truly desirable, will not again occur.—To render the purchase still more desirable, there will be attached to these mills,

50 Acres of excellent Land,

One half of which will be in wood, or the whole, if required by the purchaser. In point of locality, no mills can be better situated, within half a mile of the road leading to the Thoroughfare Gap of the mountain, which is the route established by Act of Assembly as a Turnpike, to which there is the most ready access; and being surrounded by a country well timbered, and occupied by excellent Farmers, who cultivate extensively. Both these mills are in complete order for work, having lately undergone thorough repairs. In the Grist Mill, there are two pair of large Burrs and a pair of Stones for the Corn custom, which are turned by a force of water sufficient for the operation of an additional pair of Burrs, for which the house is abundantly commodious.

The terms of sale, one third of the purchase money in hand, and the balance to be divided into two equal payments of one and two years, without interest, and possession to be given on the first day of August, which will be immediately preceding the commencement of the manufacturing season.

The prospect for a crop of wheat the present season in this neighborhood, and for a considerable extent upwards is very flattering, and to a person who could apply his funds to such an object, it is confidently believed that no pursuit whatever would be attended with greater profit.—The sale will take place on the premises, well known in the neighborhood by the name of the Cloverland Mills, about half a mile from the subscriber's place of residence. EDWARD E. CARTER.

JOHN HOPKINS

Hill and Dale, April 20.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I shoul I considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensels and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be goverued by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

ROMULUS RIGGS,

AT his office, next door below Crawford's tavern, Bridge-st. Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on.

Notice,

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.

BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE.
